He grew worse day by day, but suffered very little until last Friday, when his agony became intense. He found ease, however, before the cnd, and breathed his last peacefully as a child slaking into a sweet slumber.

HIS WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. It is a peculiar circumstance that Mr. Greenhow died on the fifty-ninth anniversary of his wedding, which was the first ever solempized in St. James Episcopai church, of which he had been a vestryman for more than half a century, and from which his funeral will take place

Mr. Greenhow was a native of this city.

Mr. Greenhow was a native of this city.

He was the son of the late George Greenhow and Elizabeth Ambler Lewis, and bis early life—indeed, his whole life—was spent in Richmond. He was educated here, and, entering the employ of Messrs. Dunlop, Moncure & Co., remained in their service for twenty-five years. In 1854 he formed a co-partnership with Mr. Robert Burton, under the firm name of Burton & Greenhow, and after the death of Mr. Burton continued the business in his own. Burton continued the business in his own name. In 1866 he admitted Mr. John F. Meredith to an interest in the business, and the style of the firm was then changed to Greenhow & Meredith.

He continued in mercantile life until in 1870, yielding to pressure brought to bear upon him by his friends, he announced himself for the city treasurer-ship. He declined, however, to solicit votes, but notwithstanding his inaction was elected and held the office by re peated re-elections for eighteen years. bacquently, when he yielded up his fire to the late John K. Chlidrey, he accepted a clerkship under that gentleman, and continued in the office under succossive administrations in a clerical capacity, until forced by ill health to retire on the 1st of July, 1897, after an active business career of 69 years.
